Virtual Women's March over Zoom
Saturday, January 23, 2021, 11 am to 12 pm.

In January 2017, thousands of women converged on our nation's capital to draw attention to women's issues and what they perceived as a threat to women's rights. In the years since then, the Women's March has grown as a call to action to support the rights of women and marginalized groups: people of color, immigrants, members of the LGBTQIA+ community and people with disabilities. The March in Washington, D.C. has expanded to state, regional and local marches, including millions of women and supporters.

Even though we can't meet in person, we can still gather virtually to celebrate the power of women voting. We can demonstrate our solidarity and hold our elected officials accountable for supporting all voters' rights and speaking for their constituents.

The Virtual March will include speakers excited about the power of women voting and eager to further women's issues and musical performances by New Mexican women. Best of all, we will feature a virtual march of women from all across the country.

We would LOVE to see you marching during this event.
